

Argano Software Extends Support to 'Ready to Serve' Old Age Home

Description

Hyderabad: Leading corporate company Argano Software is setting an inspiring example of corporate social responsibility (CSR) by extending a helping hand to neglected elderly citizens. Going beyond business commitments, the company has been actively supporting the 'Ready to Serve' old age home in Vanasthalipuram, demonstrating its dedication towards social welfare and humanitarian service.

Consistent Support for the Last Six Months

For the past six months, Argano Software has been playing a crucial role in supporting the old age home run by the voluntary organization Ready to Serve. Understanding the needs of the elderly residents, the company has been regularly providing essential groceries and life-saving medicines every month, ensuring that the inmates receive proper care and comfort.

Infrastructure Development Worth Lakhs

Apart from monthly assistance, Argano Software has also invested significant funds to improve the living conditions at the shelter. Responding immediately to the requests made by the management of the old age home, the company spent lakhs of rupees on developing basic infrastructure and facilities.

To help the elderly cope with the harsh summer heat, the organization arranged air coolers and also installed modern water dispensers to provide clean drinking water for the residents.

“Service is Our Priority”

Speaking on the occasion, Argano Software India Managing Director Madhusudan Seri said,

“The comfort, health, and happiness of elderly people remain the primary objective of our service initiatives.”

Gratitude from the Management

Expressing heartfelt gratitude, Peddi Shankar, the organizer of Ready to Serve, thanked the management of Argano Software for not only providing infrastructure support immediately upon request but also for consistently extending monthly assistance.

He stated that if more corporate organizations come forward with such social responsibility, it would become possible to provide better services and care to many helpless and underprivileged people in society.

The initiative taken by Argano Software is being seen as an inspiration and guiding example for other corporate organizations to actively participate in social welfare activities.
